MORE AMERICANS KILLED IN MEXICO

El Paso Hears of Another Massacre— Bodies of Victims of Monday's Murder Reaches Texas

(Special to The Herald)
El Paso, Jan. 13.—Following closely upon Monday's massacre of seventeen Americans and one Canadian in Mexico, word was received here today from Chihuahua that nine more Americans, including an American woman, had been killed by followers of Villa at Madera. The latest massacre was reported to be the work of former Villa soldiers acting under order of Jose Rodriguez, who recently issued a proclamation that he would kill every American that fell into his hands.

The death train bearing the bullet-riddled corpses of the Americans slain at Madera at Santa Ysabel, arrived at Juarez at 7.55 o'clock this morning and after a short delay crossed the Rio Grande to the Santa Fe freight yard where the bodies were removed. Accompanying the bodies was an armed escort of four Americans, and the death special was followed by a troop train filled with Carranza soldiers.

HUERTA DYING AT EL PASO Former Mexican Ruler Unconscious and End Near.

(Special to The Herald)
El Paso, Jan. 13.—General Victoriano Huerta was reported this morning to be falling. At 5.30 the attending physicians announced that General Huerta had sunk into a state of coma and that death was only a matter of a few hours.

STATEMENTS OF NEGROES ARE ALLOWED

State Scores in the Mohr Murder Trial—Mrs. Mohr Very Unconcerned.

(Special to The Herald)
Providence, Jan. 13.—Mrs. Elizabeth E. Mohr, perhaps the most non-chalant woman ever, the central figure in a sensational murder trial, received her first serious setback today when the prosecution scored heavily when Justice Burns, over the prolonged protest of the defendant's lawyers, allowed to his tentative rule of yesterday and said that he would permit Chief Inspector William F. O'Neill of the Providence police to tell the jury the details of the alleged statement of the negroes, Brown and Spellman, that Mrs. Mohr promised them $5,000 to put her husband out of the way. At the demand of the defense, the court instructed the jury that the statement was not a "confession" in a strict sense. They were never signed by Brown and Spellman. The statement of the negroes dealt not so much with the shooting of Mohr as with the negotiations Mrs. Mohr was alleged to have carried on with them to procure the death of her husband.

O'Neill swore that on Sept. 2 Spellman and Brown admitted their guilt when confronted by the chauffeur. "I asked Brown," said O'Neill, "if he killed Dr. Mohr and shot Miss Berger. Yes," Brown said. I asked him why. He replied, 'Because Mrs. Mohr asked us to and she promised us $5,000.'"

O'Neill swore that Spellman made a statement similar in every way to that made by Brown. The police chief read a card which brought the first tears of the trial to the eyes of Mrs. Mohr, and it was the first emotion she had shown. The card was written in 1911 to George Rooks, brother-in-law of Miss Berger, and said: "Dear Mr. Rook, I ask you, tell your sister, Miss Berger, that if she goes into my home again with Dr. Mohr she will not come out alive. No matter what the outcome she will have a sad ending. If she keeps on aggravating me, the world is with me in my sorrow," signed Mrs. Elizabeth E. Mohr.

O'Neill said that Mrs. Mohr admitted writing the card when that woman aggravated her so.

WILSON WILL NOT CHANGE POLICY

Just As Much Opposed to Armed Intervention in Mexico As Ever

(Special to The Herald)
Washington, Jan. 13.—President Wilson made it perfectly clear today that his position regarding Mexico has not changed. His opposition to armed intervention is as strong as ever. Senator Sheppard of Texas called at the White House and laid before the president a telegram he had received from Dr. C. C. Young of El Paso, urging that this government intervene in Mexico

GIVES PRESIDENT POWER TO USE ARMY AND NAVY

Senator Lewis Offers a Resolution in Senate to Protect American Citizens.

(Special to The Herald)
Washington, Jan. 13.—A resolution authorizing President Wilson to use the military and naval forces of the U. S. in Mexico, was presented to the senate today by Senator Lewis of Illinois. Senator Lewis' resolution would give the President the same power to use the army and navy as is now being exercised in Nicaragua and Haiti for the protection of American citizens. Senator Lewis explained that his resolution was hastily drawn and at his request it was laid on the table to allow him to prepare a substitute measure.

CHEATED THE LAW OF THE JOB

Convict in Sing Sing Takes His Life to Save Being Electrocutated.

(Special to The Herald)
Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 13.—Cheating the law of its just toll, Angelo Leggio, sentenced to be electrocuted for hiring a man to slay his rival, committed suicide in the death house at Sing Sing today by hanging himself. Two cells away was William Slack, the man he hired to do the killing. He used the sheet from his cot to take his life, waiting until the guard had made preparation to give breakfast to all of the inmates of the death house. He then tied and twisted the sheet to the upper tier, wrapped it about his neck and let his body drop from his berth.

SHE MAY NOW SUE FOR A DIVORCE

Mrs. C. Graham White Is Granted Preliminary Steps by English Court.

(Special to The Herald)
London, Jan. 13.—An order granting Mrs. Claude Graham White, wife of the famous aviator, resiliation of her marriage right was handed down in the divorce courts today. According to the English law the wife must secure such an order before she can secure a divorce.

ANOTHER AMERICAN KILLED NEAR EL PASO

(Special to The Herald)
Washington, Jan. 13.—Collector of Customs, Cobb, at El Paso, wired the State Department today that Gen. Villa was recently seen near Chihuahua and close to the scene of the massacre of Americans. Cobb did not state who saw the rebel leader. Officials take this news as indicating that Villa is in close touch with the operations of the bandits. Another dispatch stated that Hart Cramer, an American, had been slain by Mexican bandits at Cramer's ranch, 60 miles east of here.

CHANCELLOR CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

Prussian Spirit Unbroken and Invincible.

(Special to The Herald)
Berlin, via Sayville, Jan. 13.—"Together with our King and Emperor we march toward the turning of the road sure of victory," Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg in his address opening the 1916 session of the Prussian Diet, speaking in his official capacity as Prime Minister of Prussia, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg declared that the Prussian spirit is invincible and that Germany is showing the world that she can not be starved out.

DREADNOUGHT DRY DOCKS RECOMMENDED

Admiral Stanford Wants Both in the South.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Imperative need of two dreadnought dry docks on the Atlantic side of the country was urged upon the house naval committee today by Rear Admiral Stanford. He said one of these basins should be constructed at Norfolk at a cost of $3,600,000 and the other somewhere south of Hatteras, the choice lying between Guantanamo, Mobile and New Orleans. Admiral Stanford thought was the best site of the three, considering its location, and the prediction that "If we have trouble it will probably come in the Caribbean." He said however, Mobile and New Orleans were worth considering, as it would cost $7,000,000 to equip Guantanamo, which is handicapped by the necessary cost of fortifications and mobile army to defend the base, and by scarcity of labor, ship materials and supplies.

To provide eight navy yard with two battleship building ways and accommodations, the admiral said would require a total of $22,000,000 as follows:

Norfolk, $2,200,000; New York, $2,100,000; Philadelphia, $2,700,000; Norfolk, $2,500,000; Charleston, $3,400,000; Puget Sound, $2,100,000. Other equipment outside of the jurisdiction of the bureau of yards and docks would bring the total cost up to between $30,000,000 and $50,000,000.

SEEKS THE RETURN OF HIS DAUGHTER

Berlin, Jan. 12.—Haron von Osten, a wealthy landowner of the district of Minus, Courland, has asked the German Red Cross to find his sixteen year old daughter who was imprisoned by the Russians nine months ago and may have been sent to Siberia.

When the drive of the Teutonic Allies through Galicia, Poland and the Baltic provinces began, in May last year, the Russians started wholesale arrests of Jews and Russian citizens with German names. The victims were either imprisoned, driven into the interior of the Empire or deported to Asia.

In May a Russian patrol appeared on the estate of Baron von Osten. The Baron and his wife were absent as they had gone to Dorpat and the soldiers ransacked the house looking for evidence of treason. The lieutenant in command of the detachment found a diary which contained entries in German and the daughter of the owner, Baroness Alexandra von Osten, a schoolgirl confessed to having written the sentences.

The entries were entirely harmless and had no relations to the war, but the lieutenant, "the did not understand German," arrested the girl and sent her to Riga. From there she was transported to Petrograd with other prisoners. She was never tried and in all probability has been sent to some penal colony in Siberia with other alleged spies and traitors.

When the parents of the girl learned of her arrest, the grief-stricken father hurried to Petrograd, but his appeals to the military authorities and the minister of the interior were in vain. He was early informed that his daughter would be returned to him later if she could be found. Nobody seems to know what has become of her.

Almost insane from grief, the Baron returned to his estate, which shortly afterwards came into the possession of the German troops. Since that time he has repeatedly tried to get to Petrograd to resume the search for his child but he has not been able to obtain the necessary passports and has now appealed to the German Red Cross Society. The society will try to locate his daughter with the aid of the diplomatic representatives of a neutral power.

Make the Best Medicine at Home—128 Teaspoonful for 50c.

Money spent for the old style, ready-made medicine usually sold in bottles holding only 2 to 2½ ounces (16 to 20 teaspoonfuls) is largely wasted, because most of them are composed principally of sugar and water. Yet you have to pay the same price as if it were all medicine. Stop wasting this money. You can make a better remedy for bronchitis, colds, whooping cough, croup, and all the ailments of the throat and chest, at home at one-fifth the cost. Merely go to Adams' Drug Store and ask for 2 ounces (56c worth) of Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expectant, which they guarantee will give perfect satisfaction or money will be refunded. Mix this with one pint of boiling water, which makes a full pint (128 teaspoonfuls). This new, simple, pleasant remedy is guaranteed to relieve the worst case residents of Dyers have signed the pledge for one year.

Not only has everybody promised to stay on the water wagon for the year, but they have taken the pledge not to smoke cigarettes nor chew tobacco. All have promised to renew their pledge at the end of the year.

Dyers is a new town on a new railroad, and until recently was "open," much like other towns. Then a young man killed a friend and the revelation of sentiment got in. A committee was appointed and a pledge signing campaign started. In the first two days nearly every man in town signed.

TWO VIEWS OF CHAMPION WRESTLER FRANK COTCH, WHO IS NOW ANXIOUS TO TAKE ON ALL CHALLENGERS

Humboldt, Jan. 12.—Frank Cotch, the world's champion wrestler is hot under the collar. This infatuation is caused by the fact that every Tom, Dick and Harry has been getting all kinds of publicity at his expense. Cotch stated recently that he feared that at least 100 challenges were hurled at him monthly, and he added that only about two of them were worth considering. The champion wishes to announce that if any promoter will offer a substantial purse he will meet any man in the world at catch-as-catch-can style, Joe Stecher preferred. Cotch states that he is in fine condition and with a month's hard work under his belt would be in wonderful shape.

BOSTON LETTER

Boston, Jan. 12.—The reorganization of Governor Samuel McCall in his inaugural address that banks accommodate the borrower of small loans, basing their business upon the safety rather than the size of the loan, is not favored by Boston National Bank officials. Governor McCall hoped by this method to alleviate the loan shark evil. Presumably and managers of Boston banks are of one opinion in the matter; that the risk is too great in many cases, that separate departments would be required to handle the business, and that for these reasons there would be little or no profit in the business for the banks. As the president of one bank outlined the situation, it would mean burdening the bank with small loans of uncertain nature, which would not pay proportionately to the trouble in handling them. Benjamin Joy, vice president of the Shawmut National Bank, expressed the opinion that banks would not make the sort of loans now made by loan agencies, because only those go to these agencies for money who have not good enough security to borrow from a bank as it is today. Wholly experienced in the making of small loans, Robert Treat Paine, 26, does not believe that any organization can make loans of the nature now handled by loan sharks without charging interest almost as high.

Lack of a regulation to require physicians to report cases of grip and pneumonia has so handicapped the city health officers in the present outbreak of grip and pneumonia that Health Commissioner Mahoney intends to request the state health department to compel physicians throughout the state to report all diseases to their local health departments. "No great burden would be added to the physicians by such a rule," he said today, "and the health departments and, consequently, the people in general would derive much benefit from it."

An appeal for more color in the dress of women was made by Mrs. Ruth Butts Carson, director of the Dress League, in an address to the society at the Hotel Brunswick. "Color covers a multitude of dress sins," she declared. "Women must supply the universe with color. Lines are important in a dress, but they are subordinate to the shade worn. If you wear black on the streets, at home or at the dance—you will look old unless you are under 25; while white brings out all the qualities of youth in your face. It will bring out the least bit of natural color in your cheeks, and will keep your hair from looking gray if you are not young any more. I cannot advise women too strongly to follow nature in choosing their gowns and so attire themselves attractively."

The Boston Poultry Association's 20th annual exhibit in Mechanics Hall, is the biggest show of its kind ever held in this city. There are thousands of turkeys, poultry, ducks, geese, fancy wild birds and pet stock in the cages. The exhibits, which have come from not only all New England, but from the middle states, Canada, Michigan, Missouri, Wisconsin and Kansas. The show opened today with a great showing of the most choice pets and show

HINTS FOR THE BUSY HOUSEWIFE

Spring Wire Clothespin That Is Simple In Action.

The simplest of all the clothespins which have been invented is that which was recently designed and patented by a resident of Texas, who finds it an effective means of securing the washed garments to the line. The spring wire loop has one end bent around the other by a half hook which will hold the two ends securely together by its own tension when one is lapped over the other, and which may be easily released when desired. After the clothes have been placed on the line the two ends are engaged by merely squeezing them together around the line and drawn down so that the clothes and line are held together between the two ends of the wire. The weight of the depending loop holds it in place and prevents the pin from becoming dislodged.

To Fireproof Clothes.

Dissolve one pound of ammonium phosphate in one gallon of cold water and a clear solution is formed in which the fabric to be fireproofed should be soaked for five minutes. The garment can then be taken out and allowed to dry, after which it may be worn with perfect safety, as it is absolutely fireproof. The solution produces no more harm to the material than would the same quantity of ordinary water. It will keep indefinitely, is nonpoisonous and can be used for several suits. Ammonium phosphate is a common white crystalline powder, not patented in any way, and sells for about 25 cents a pound at any drug store. Any article fireproofed by this method will remain nonflammable until washed or drenched with kerosene. American Society For Fire Prevention.

Canned Strawberries.

To can strawberries so that they will keep their shape and color after the berries are picked over put them in a jar, with a layer of sugar and then of berries until all are used. Set them in the cellar overnight, and the sugar will penetrate them, and no water must be added (there will be sufficient juice). Have a sugar syrup on the stove hot, put the strawberries in and let them boil up gently; then fill cans with the fruit and juice all cooked together. Screw on the cover, stand the can upside down a few minutes, then turn again, changing it in this way until it is cool and the berries will not rise to the top. This way preserves the shape, color and flavor of the fruit.

Pickled Grapes.

Prepare the grapes as for preserving by removing the skins and seeds and boiling the pulp. To five pounds of fruit add a cupful of elder vinegar, a cupful of grape juice, three pounds of sugar and a spice bag containing two ounces of cinnamon, one ounce of cloves, a small piece of ginger root and one whole nutmeg. Place in a preserving kettle over a slow fire and cook until of the consistency of marmalade, stirring constantly to prevent burning. Turn while hot into jelly tumblers and cover when cold with paraffin.

Dainty Bread Boxes.

Cut bread into slices about an inch and a half or two inches thick and divide these slices into as many cubes as they will make. With a sharp knife cut out the crumb in the center, leaving a box shaped cavity. Butter the bread boxes and set in the oven to crisp and brown lightly. Just before serving time fill with leftover fish flakes, rice, a mixture of chicken, deviled eggs, chopped ham or a mixture of veal and lamb, pour a thick cream dressing over box and contents and serve hot.

Spiced Currants.

Six pounds currants, one level tablespoon cinnamon, four pounds sugar, one level teaspoonful cloves, two pounds raisins, one level teaspoonful allspice and one cupful of vinegar. Pick over the currants, wash, drain and remove the stems. Put into a preserving kettle. Add the sugar, raisins and vinegar, and cook until it commences to thicken. Add the spices and cook to a thick sauce.

Sour Milk Biscuits.

One pint of sour or butter milk, one teaspoonful of soda, two teaspoonfuls of melted butter. Flour to make soft dough, just stiff enough to handle. Mix, roll, cut out rapidly with a little handling, as may be and bake in a quick oven.

WATCHFUL WAITING POLICY IS SCORED

Administration Fears Effect of Harsh Attacks in Senate--Sherman De- mands Armed Intervention in Mexican Troubles.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Demand for armed intervention in Mexico by Senator Sherman of Illinois and harsh attacks by other members of Congress opposed to the "watchful waiting" policy followed apparent confirmation today of El Paso reports of the massacre of from 15 to 18 Americans by bandits in the Mexican state of Chihuahua.

After receiving reports, Secretary Lansing today telegraphed Gen. Carranza calling for the punishment of the bandits who executed 16 Americans near Chihuahua City Monday, through El Paso Arrondissement, the newly appointed Mexican ambassador to the United States. The bodies are to be brought from Chihuahua City to Juarez by special train.

Secretary Lansing's only announcement in the case was that the United States would look to Gen. Carranza for satisfaction. The question of what steps the United States would take depended on the development of facts.

Mexican Massacre of Fifteen Mining Men Confirmed Officially

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 12.—From telegrams that reached American and British officials and friends and relatives of the murdered men, gruesome details were learned of the massacre of unarmed citizens of the United States.

They prove that the massacre was one of the most heinous of the hundreds that have marked the course of the revolution in Mexico. Dragged from the train on which they were enroute to resume mining operations in western Chihuahua, the passengers from the Carranza officials at Juarez and Chihuahua, the Americans were stripped of their clothing, clubbed, bayoneted and otherwise abused and then their bodies were flung with bullets and left lying beside the tracks near Santa Ysabel. According to official messages received here by the American authorities, General Villa in person led the squad of soldiers who held up the train just after it had passed the patrol post at Kilometer No. 58 and went through the train at the head of his men searching for all American passengers. As fast as the Americans were found they were ordered out of the train and those who were slow to obey the command to get off were stabbed in the back and thrown bodily off the cars. The massacre occurred about four o'clock Monday morning. Most of the Americans were asleep when roughly awakened and hustled out of the train. Every protest they made was met with curses and jabs of the bayonet. To make cer-

IMPREGNABLE DEFENSE IN OUR UNITY

CLAIM WILL BE SET FORTH BY
COL. ROOSEVELT AT IMMIGRATION CONFERENCE

Philadelphia, Jan. 13.—"Fear God take your own part" is announced as the subject of Colonel Roosevelt's address at the National Conference on Immigration and Americanization, to be held under the auspices of the National Americanization Committee here January 19 and 20. The Colonel's address will be given January 20 at 9 p. m. at the Metropolitan Opera House.

The conference will point out that our most impregnable defense is our internal unity—which can exist only when native and foreign born alike, in all sections of the country, accept and use the same language, the same ideals of citizenship, the same industrial standards, and the same standards of living.

Schools, naturalization courts, employers, trade unions, patriotic organizations, welfare workers, and other governmental and social agencies are meeting at the conference to outline a program for internal preparedness.

"Fear God and take your own part" is the Colonel's own way of expressing the subject of his address, which is Nationalism—social, economic and spiritual preparedness in peace and war. The Colonel will say that the development of our national consciousness is the need of the hour. He will bring about a national point of view, an all-pervading Americanism. These are: big business, toward which the government shall maintain an attitude effectively balanced between control and encouragement. A big government—the need of a broader outlook, greater cooperation between governmental functions, and especially the need of federalization as an element of national policy; finally, a big people—educated to a national rather than a local or personal point of view in matters of practical business and practical citizenship, and in patriotic ideals.

Speakers at this or other sessions of the conference are Hon. Louis F. Post, Assistant Secretary, U. S. Department of Labor, Mary Antin, William E. Knox, Controller, Bowery Savings Bank, Frank Trumbull, Chairman of the Board of Directors, Chesapeake & Ohio R. R., John H. Fahy, President of the Chamber of Commerce of the U. S. A., Alvin Johnson, President, Baldwin Locomotive Works, Philadelphia, Pa., S. Stanwood Menken, of the National Security League, Judge Clarence N. Goodwin, and John Price Jackson, Commissioner of Labor, Pennsylvania. Others invited to speak include Cardinal Gibbons and Senator Chamberlain.

Many National Forces Represented
A number of states and cities are sending official delegations to the conference, in recognition of the importance of the subjects under discussion to state and municipal policy. The Chamber of Commerce of the U. S. A. has especially invited its members to send delegates. Chambers of Commerce so far west as San Francisco are sending delegates, as well as eastern bodies, as the Washington Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants Association of New York. Among the colleges and universities sending delegates are Columbia, Johns Hopkins, Pennsylvania, the Catholic University of Washington etc. Many settlements in the large cities are sending their head workers. Various patriotic and welfare agencies sending delegates include the Sons and the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Baron de Hirsch Fund, the American Civic Association, the Immigrant Protective League, the National Housing Association, the St. Vincent de Paul Society and the United Hebrew Charities.

The national security congress, to be held in Washington, Jan. 20, 21 and 22, under the auspices of the National Security League, will endeavor to "meet squarely" not only the questions of need of defense, but will deal with the vital questions relating to preparedness. An exhaustive discussion will present the best expert knowledge and opinion. During the three days of the congress, some of the most distinguished men of the nation will discuss the following subjects: World politics and our country's relation thereto; organization methods adopted by competitive nations; obligation of the individual to the nation; mobilization of transportation and industrial resources; elimination of waste and inefficiency; laws relating to espionage and counsel of national defense. The pictures show: No. 1, S. Stanwood Menken, president of the National Security League; No. 2, Joseph H. Choate and Alton B. Parker, honorary president and honorary vice president, respectively, of the league.

Some time ago C. Allan Gilbert, the famous illustrator, who with Howard Chandler Christy, Harrison Fisher and a few others has done so much to make the American Girl famous, got the idea that silhouette motion pictures could be produced. In other words, that a story could be told on the screen in black and white using real actors to depict the various characters.

He determined to try it. Now while he had not been allowed to starve by the art editors of the various fifteen cent magazines, he had not saved enough to buy such an expensive toy as a private motion picture studio.

He went to J. R. Bray, the cartoonist who saw the possibilities of his idea and financed the project. Further, Mr. Bray spied an opportunity to indulge in a few experiments on his own account. The result was that the formation of a subsidiary company to his own, called the Bray-Gilbert Studios, marked the success of his attempt.

The combination of the real with the drawn is now an accomplished fact. The Bray-Gilbert Studios, which like the output of Mr. Bray's other company is to be marketed solely through the Paramount Pictures Corporation, are partly acted and partly painted. The spectators cannot tell where one begins and the other leaves off.

The impossible has come to pass. Fantasy has come into its own. Silhouettes need stop at nothing. When a remarkable transformation or feat of strength must take place, along comes the artist and draws it. Then the actors take up the work again and all is well.

It is a brand new experience for Washington Mews to have a moving picture studio in its midst. But for some time now No. 44 has been the scene of mysterious operations the nature of which has just come to light. The ancient structure has been transformed to meet the requirements of the new undertaking and big arc lights, odd stage properties and curious photographic machines have replaced Dobbin and his cart.

A stage and flies have been added in the rear of the lot, the ceiling knocked out, and the inner walls painted a dazzling white. Powerful electric lights overhead are so arranged as to throw the actors into bold relief. Occasionally the background is colored to lend more detail and the different shades show on the screen. Though the figures are in silhouette it is amazing how much expression is obtained.

take his characters seriously, and carries them through a series of droll adventures. "Inbad the Sailor" his first release on January 20th, is a typical example.

The story which has the proper Arabian Nights flavor, depicts a sailor wrecked on a desert island with only a monkey for a companion and a bottle of tobacco sauce for comfort. But the writer produces the inevitable mystery in the shape of a genie's chest, in which is found a wishing ring. The sailor has four wishes, one of which turns the monkey into a human companion—a sort of Man Friday—and another whisks the two off on a magic carpet to the Orient in search of adventure.

As the two men tumble into the scene before the gates of Bagdad they are taken prisoners and are borne off to the Sultan who, learning of the wishing ring, decides to commute a sentence of death to a life of happiness and ease, providing they find a rare pearl stolen by a dragon in the mountains. As a reward the Sultan promises the sailor his daughter, a beautiful princess, for his wife.

With such a prize in view the sailor sets off with his companion to search for the pearl. They find the dragon, and just as he is about to attack them they pour the tobacco sauce down his throat and he coughs up the pearl. As they flee with the gem they look back and see the monster being consumed by fire from the burning condiment. Seeking the Sultan to claim the reward the sailor discovers the supposed beautiful princess to be an unrepentant slave girl woman; so turning his companion back into a monkey, he sets sail on the magic carpet for New York intending to dispose of the pearl. He takes it to a pawnshop, only to find the gem is a counterfeit and is worth only 30 cents.

Mr. Gilbert writes the scenarios, himself and among the other whimsical stories which he is producing for Paramount are "The Chess Queen."

DRINK HABIT

Reliable Home Treatment

"Haunts for Hire" and "The Ballroom Tree."

Like the Bray Cartoons, and the Dittmars Zoo pictures, which it has just been announced have been obtained by Paramount, the Gilbert Silhouettes will help to round out the programs of Paramount Theatres.

Their appeal to children, and to "children of a larger growth" is unlimited. Such photoplays as Famous Players' "The Prince and the Pauper," with Marguerite Clark and Larry's "Carmen," with Geraldine Farrar, have made new friends for Paramount pictures. These novelties will make them in additional numbers.

"It is our aim," said Mr. Gilbert and Mr. Bray, "to produce photoplays at the Bray Studios which will outstep cartoons as made and at the Bray-Gilbert Studios where the Silhouettes are filmed, which will be in every way up to the standard set by the producers of Paramount Pictures. We know the high aims of the 'great' distributing company and we will set our guns at the same range."

This brings up an interesting point. Through his remarkable skill with the pen, J. R. Bray has found a way to combine the drawn with the actual figure, with the result that the Bray-Gilbert Silhouettes are a mixture of cartoon and real acting.

Transformations, otherwise impossible, are accomplished and one cannot tell where the acting ends and the drawing begins.

Fantasy thus comes into its own. Nothing is impossible. The most amazing feats of the "Arabian Nights" can be reproduced with the same flight of imagination that characterizes the original. Truly the Silhouette Film as exemplified in these remarkable pictures opens a new field for the moving camera.

WILL DISCUSS FORESTRY

American Association Meets in Boston January 17.

All arrangements have been made for the Thirty-fifth Annual Conference of the American Forestry Association to be held in Boston at the Copley Plaza, Jan. 17 and 18. The meetings will begin at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Jan. 17. A banquet will be held at 7:30 in the evening and there will be an all-day meeting beginning at 10 o'clock on Jan. 18. All meetings will be held at the Copley Plaza.

National, state and municipal forestry will be discussed together with the problems concerning lumbering, fire protection and insect control. Many of the leaders in the forestry movement in this country will be on the program at these meetings.

Conservationists from nearly every part of the country will be present and all New Englanders who are interested in the care and preservation of the forests will find these meetings instructive and enjoyable. The meetings will be open to the public and seats at the banquet can be engaged through the Massachusetts Forestry Association, 4 Joy street, Boston.

F. J. SPRAGUE OF NAVAL BOARD GOES TO SEA ABOARD THE NEW YORK.

New York, Jan. 12.—Frank J. Sprague, member of the Naval Consulting Board, occupied the admiral's quarters on the battleship New York when she sailed from Tompkinsville last week for fleet and target practice. This is an indication, according to Thomas Hobins, secretary of the board, that the activities of the navy's civilian advisers will not be confined to laboratory work or to the organization of the industrial resources of the country for the purpose of national defense.

Mr. Sprague is taking the present trip, Mr. Hobins said, to obtain first-hand knowledge of ship construction, and naval gunnery of the present day, subjects in which he was considered an expert while serving as an officer of the navy and in which he headed his class at Annapolis. After resigning his commission he became a pioneer in electrical engineering and was the inventor of the multiple system of electrical traction.

Mr. Sprague joined the New York at the invitation of Captain Hugh Rodman, commander of the ship, and with the approval of Secretary Daniels. It is expected that other members of the consulting board will take similar trips to obtain first-hand information regarding the work of war vessels.

The Colonial Theatre vaudeville program is new today and looks pretty fine.

"Coffee Don't Hurt Me"

Can he get away with it?

The drug, caffeine, in coffee, about 2½ grains to the average cup, hurts many coffee drinkers, at some time of life, and often hurts them hard.

Caffeine is a powerful irritant that unsteadies the nerves, races the heart, disorganizes the digestive organs and plays havoc with the health of a large proportion of coffee users.

Of course, there are some who go on drinking coffee for years, without apparent harm, at least they don't suspect it, until the cumulative drug, caffeine, has got in its work. Isn't it the best plan to play safe with health—quit coffee and use

American People Tired of Watchful Waiting.

The latest Mexican outrage, that of murdering seventeen of the best of American manhood, has apparently caused much dissatisfaction with the "Watchful waiting" policy of the present Democratic administration at Washington. It is well for the country that we are not embroiled in any international conflict and to be thankful that we are at peace with all the world. But is a peace which countenances the deliberate murder of American citizens on either side of the Atlantic ocean, and makes no further protest than a "demand" couched in firm but diplomatic terms the proper protest? In every instance up to the present, this method has resulted only in failure.

In the latest Mexican horror one son of New Hampshire lost his life and another was the only survivor. Both men were natives of Keene. G. H. Newman was born and brought up in Keene and was graduated from Dartmouth College with the class of 1902. He leaves a father, mother and brother living at Keene. To satisfy some savage's thirst for blood this 37 year old engineer lost his life. Thomas M. Holmes of Keene, aged 32, escaped being killed when the train was boarded, by hiding in the wash-room.

No man, in his wildest moments, can call Senator Gallinger a jingo; yet Senator Gallinger said from the floor of the United States Senate Wednesday afternoon: "There should be conclusive action taken in this matter; if full reparation is not made, the government should take action necessary to enforce it."

Although messages have been dispatched by the State Department demanding reparation, no amount of money can pay the parents of Mr. Newman for his life. Secretary Lansing said that Americans had been warned to leave the country of Mexico. Does that make the act of the Mexican murderers right?

Should Return to the Fold.

Nomination papers for the primary election were issued Wednesday at Concord by Secretary of State Edwin C. Bean to the secretaries of the Republican and the Democratic State Committees. As yet no papers have been issued to the Progressive party and it would be the safe course for the Progressives to forget their differences and get back into the fold where they belong.

From what was transacted in Chicago by the members of the Bull Moose party leaders on Wednesday, that party will likely not enter into the presidential conflict this year and from the elections in other states the Progressive party appears to be hopelessly out of the running. In the coming national election the Progressives will not figure very heavily, the fight being between the two greater parties, Republican and Democratic.

But there is a state election coming in New Hampshire this fall and if the voters of the state do not want to see the election of Mr. Noone, the probable Democratic candidate, the Progressives—if there are any remaining—should follow the apparent lead of the National Progressives, and not attempt to play with fire.

The history of the Progressive Party shows beyond the benefit of a reasonable doubt that the party was made up of dissatisfied Republicans. This dissatisfaction resulted in the Democratic sweep of the entire country. In most cases the Progressives have deserted their party and returned to the ranks of the G. O. P., as shown by the results of the elections in Maine and Massachusetts this past fall.

Put a Progressive candidate in the field, and cast your vote for him, and you are giving the Democratic candidate just the opportunity to win that he will be counting on. The state has fared well under the present Republican administration. Leave well enough alone.

The cashier of a Connecticut bank committed suicide a few days ago while an examination was being made of the books, which showed a shortage of $87,500. The reports say he was a man of "exemplary habits," and his friends believe he lost the money by speculation in stocks. "Exemplary," indeed, are the habits of a man who will risk other people's money in speculation, but we have too many of that kind in this country.

A large New England manufacturing concern which is operating under a profit sharing plan has just divided among 2400 employees $100,000, which is their share of the profits for the past year. The amounts received by individuals range from a few dollars up to $100. It is needless to say that there have been no labor troubles under this arrangement, which is far superior to strikes and lockouts.

Refused Demand of Riggers

The navy department has refused to grant the request of the riggers at the Boston navy yard for an increase in maximum pay from $3.00 to $4 per day. The wage board recently increased the pay of riggers from $3.52 to $3.60 or 8 cents per day and states that a further increase is not warranted at this time.

To Protect the Uniform

To compel respect for the uniform of American sailors and marines, Senator Tillman introduced a bill which would impose a maximum penalty of $1000 fine and 18 months imprisonment for anyone carrying, amusement resort owners and hotels refusing accommodations to uniformed sailors and marines of the marine corps, when the applicants are sober and willing to pay.

Prisoners Arrive

Seven prisoners from the Philadelphia and Norfolk navy yards arrived on Wednesday for the Southern.

The work of coaling the U. S. S. Tennessee is being hurried along and the men began work at 6:30 o'clock this morning.

More Flying Machines for Navy

Fifteen new flying machines will be delivered to the agricultural station Boston, within the next sixty days, it was announced today. Nine of the new airplanes are being built by a concern at Marblehead, Mass., and six by another firm at Hyde Park. Three of the machines will be the Burgess biplane, the largest and fastest constructed for the United States.

Torpedo Goes Astray

Much excitement was caused in the Newport harbor Wednesday afternoon when a dummy torpedo missed its net, slipped a circle and finally ran into the dry dock after barely missing the ship the General Arnold. The torpedo was fired from the practice barge at the torpedo station and was meant for a target in the south part of the harbor. Although not loaded, the incident would have been sufficient to elicit a small riot.

CURRENT OPINION

Doctrine of Public Ownership of Property a Menace to the Nation.

We have been almost startlingly alarmed at that school of political economy in this nation which stands for the public ownership of all property and the withholding of private ownership of any. Let me emphasize my allegiance to the doctrine of private property. That right should never be invaded unless it be clearly in the exercise of some public act or some public necessity. But we must not deceive ourselves about the condition which confronts us. We are silently approaching one of the greatest crises in our history. We are beset by influences and are face to face with conditions that may threaten us from afar and at home.

We must protect ourselves against those who might attack us from without, but we must save ourselves from those who might destroy us from within. —By James E. Ferguson, Governor of Texas.

GERMANY WILL DEVELOP TURKEY

Great Possibilities in Agriculture and Mining That Have Never Been Touched.

Berlin, Jan. 12.—One of the foremost commercial and financial experts of Germany says in the Vossische Zeitung that the development of the resources of Turkey will not only make the German nation entirely independent of the United States, but will also bring untold wealth to the German Empire.

The expert is convinced that Syria and Mesopotamia can be turned into a granary for the central powers with comparatively little expense. The Ottoman Empire is three times as large as Germany, but only has twenty million inhabitants. This comparatively small population can never use up what the fertile soil is able to produce. With the necessary capital and in the introduction of agricultural machinery, Turkey can raise grain enough to supply many other countries besides Germany and Austria.

Armenia and other parts of Asia Minor contain unlimited quantities of mineral ores, especially copper and iron. Large districts can easily be used for the production of more cotton than Germany and her allies need, and Arabia will furnish thousands of tons of the best coffee.

England will therefore never be able to starve Germany, says the expert, even if she keeps absolute control of the seas. In the future any blockade of the Central Powers will be useless provided that they merge victoriously from the present tremendous conflict.

The amount of capital needed to open up the treasures of Turkey, according to the expert, will not be nearly as large as generally supposed. A billion dollars will be sufficient and this capital will come back in a very few years as the investment is sure to yield enormous returns.

The development of Turkey in already in swing while the war still rages. With German aid, the government of the Sultan has established an Agricultural credit bank which advances money to farmers at a low rate of interest. Work on the Baghdad railway, the gigantic enterprise of the German capitalists, is pushed with the greatest energy and the line with its branches will soon be complete. After the war or as soon as the British are driven out of Mesopotamia, the line will be extended to the Persian Gulf. Then Germany will have a direct connection with the Orient, says the expert, which England with all its sea power can never disturb.

While the Bagdad railway is nearing completion, another great railroad which will connect Angora, Erzerum, Samarra and Sivas, has been started by German capitalists under a concession of the German government.

The irrigation of the plains of Konla and Adana is making good progress and will transform immense districts into beautiful gardens in a short time. Several million acres which formerly were sterile, are already under cultivation and yield enormous crops.

What Turkey needs, most besides capital are experienced farmers, mechanics, engineers, mining experts, chemists and merchants and these will be furnished by Germany as soon as the war ends. Then the Ottoman Empire which has seemed to be slowly dying for centuries, says the expert, will begin national life anew and enter upon an era of prosperity never dreamed of before.

The condition of Miss Lizzie Forward who has been seriously ill at the home of her sister, Mrs. Annie Penny on Vaughan street, is reported as somewhat improved.

THOSE PHILLIPS CONTRACTS

Some Profits Represented in the Rise in the Price of Metal Purchases

Boston.—Although readjustments of original plans have been necessary, the so-called Phillips interests should stand to realize sizable profits in connection with their munitions contracts. It will be recalled that during the latter part of September J. B. Phillips bought 10,000,000 pounds of copper from the American Smelting and Refining Co.

The price was 18 cents per pound, low as compared with publicly quoted rates at the time, and should itself represent a profit of at least $300,000. Deliveries are to be made next May, April, May, June and July. It is believed pretty certain that of the several companies with which Mr. Phillips has been affiliated, it is the R. B. Phillips Manufacturing Co., to which this profit will belong.

Mr. Phillips also secured some smaller, but profitable, spot contracts; also a contract for $12,000,000 worth of steel from a United States Steel subsidiary for the $22,420,000 contract that was contemplated to be filled at the Portsmouth, N. H., plant. Because of the advances in the price of steel, it is believed that this purchase should represent a profit of at least $1,000,000, but it may be that it will be claimed by whatever company, it eventually develops, is to fill this big shell order from the French government. —Boston News Bureau.

INSECT METAL BORERS.

Wasps With the Ability to Eat Their Way Through Steel Plates.

The voracious and destructive habits of the white ants of the tropics are widely known. Metal is almost the only substance that they are unable to destroy. There is an insect, however, and it is not necessary to go to the tropics to find it—that can bore through metal as easily as the white ant can bore through wood.

Any one can hear this insect buzzing in the pine woods in midsummer or perhaps see the dash of its yellow wings. Strix gigas is its formidable scientific name, but we know it simply as the horn tailed wasp. This wasp bores into the tree in various places with its long, thin and in each hole leaves an egg.

The ensuing larvae, a white, six-legged grub, fitted with powerful jaws, takes up the work of boring into the wood and as it advances closes the passage behind it with sawdust. It unintermitted the larvae continues boring deeper and deeper into the tree, and since it is, of course, growing all the time, it makes a larger and larger passage.

After about two years it makes its cocoon of silk in the burrow. Then, after the pupal skin is cast off, the winged insect breaks through its cocoon. Immediately with feverish haste, it begins boring toward liberty. Finally it reaches the bark of the tree and then the open air.

It is often the case that during the larval period, the tree, in which the horn tailed wasp is burrowing, may be felled, sawed into planks and used in building operations. Sometimes, for some particular purpose, the lumber may be incased in a metal sheathing. That does not disturb the wasp at all. When its time comes it applies itself with energy to its task and soon bores a hole through which it can escape.

Toles made by these insects have been found in tin roofs, and in the mint at Vienna was a safe the built with steel plates of which the wasps had perforated. Some extraordinary cases of their activity were brought to the notice of the Academy of Sciences in Paris.

A barrel of cartridges that had been stored away for some time showed the ravages of the wasps in their search for light and freedom. The insects had not only eaten their way through the wooden barrel, but through the cartridges and leaden bullets as well.

Other boxes of cartridges, dating from the Crimean war, were shown completely riddled by wasp borings, an excellent illustration of the tremendous strength and the determination to accomplish their purpose that these fragile insects possess. —Washington Star.

Swords and Walking Sticks.

The walking stick, as we know it at present, gained its popularity in France during the eighteenth century, when it came to be carried by rich people who had no right to wear swords. The dandies twisted thin bamboo canes in their fingers, but the great financiers, who had considerable influence at that time, made the sticks fashionable additions to their wardrobes and sometimes paid as much as 10,000 crowns for one. This carrying of a walking stick was regarded as a decorative triumph over the nobility, who refused the commoners the right to wear swords. —London Standard.

Horse Sense.

During a heavy downpour of rain an Irish farmer sent his boy to a distant field to bring home a horse. Some time elapsed, and the messenger returned without the horse.

"Father—Didn't O send ye for the horse, ye guano? Is your head in your brogue?"

"Little boy, (drenched to the skin)—Sure, he was standin' in shelter as dry as a stick. 'Reckin', he knows more than the two of us."

A Woman's Curiosity.

The worst of women is that they are always wanting to see what will happen if they do certain things. They make a man angry just to see what he looks like when he is angry, and they make a man miserable just to see what he looks like when he is miserable, and they never realize how much gratification suffering all this entails upon the man. —From "Concerning Isabel Carnaby," by Mrs. Fowler.

Supply at Hand.

Employment Agent—I have a capable cook that will just suit you. She is a widow, and is very fond of children. Mrs. Richleigh—But we have no children. Employment Agent—Oh, that'll be all right. She has six of her own. —Exchange.

Obliging Anticipation.

Severe Ancient Relative (severely)—Does anybody in this house smoke? Young Wife.—Oh, yes, John, get aunt a cigarette. —Baltimore American.

NEW ORDER ON WIRELESS

All Foreign Ships Must Disarm While in Port.

Hereafter all foreign ships on arrival at the port of Boston, must disarm their wireless apparatus, send it down to and maintain it at the must head while in port, and renew it if they choose, on their departure. Such is the gist of an order received by Collector of the Port Edmund Billings of Boston from Washington, Wednesday night.

This order will affect particularly the seven German ships and the solitary Austrian ship, which have been interned at Boston for many months. In general it will conform to the procedure already taken by other American ports.

Since the German ships arrived here shortly after the war broke out, their wireless, having been inspected daily by customs officers. The instruments have been taken apart so as to cripple the apparatus, either for sending or receiving purposes, and have been sealed by radio experts from the navy yard. This form of inspection has necessitated for many months daily trips to the interned vessels, which at first lay in the lower harbor and more recently have been docked. Under the new order occasional inspection by the radio experts will suffice.

At present the vessels are berthed as follows: The American and the Cincinnati at Commonwealth pier, South Boston; the Aukensels, at Pike wharf; the Kronprinzessin Cecilie, the Wilhelm, the Whitehead and the Kohn, at East Boston; and the Erny, at Chelsea. Of the above named, all are German except the last.

PRESIDENT HONORS SUPT. KIMBALL

Retires After Fifty Years as Head of Coast Guard Service.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Sumner I. Kimball for more than 46 years connected with the public service, received today a splendid letter of commendation from President Wilson.

Mr. Kimball will retire from the office of general superintendent of the U. S. Coast Guard next Saturday. He is a native of Lebanon, Me. Born in 1831, he became attached to the U. S. Navy service in 1857 and has been its head since 1878.

In his letter President Wilson says in part: "You have been charged with the conduct of the affairs of this humanitarian branch of the government from its infancy."

"It is a growth and development from a few struggling improvised stations into an organization commanding the respect and admiration not only of our own people, but of the entire civilized world, reflects the wisdom of your administration; and it must be gratifying to you to feel assured that the improvement in the condition of the personnel by the inauguration of the service in the recently created coast guard, will result in securing the high standard of efficiency which it has always been your earnest endeavor to maintain."

STATE ROADS TAKE HALF MILLION GALS. OIL

Commissioner Everett of the State Department of Highways is arranging for the oiling of the state roads next spring. He expects to award a contract within a few days which will call for 500,000 gallons of oil and its application.

Commissioner Everett has been invited to deliver an address at the annual meeting of the American Road Builders Association, at Pittsburgh, Pa., beginning on February 28. He is asked to speak on building roads, at low cost for moderate traffic, for the doing of which the New Hampshire department has "attracted" country wide attention from local road builders.

HADN'T BROUGHT HER ALONG.

WALLACE SHOE PLANT AT ROCHESTER SOLD

Rochester, Jan. 12.—The large shoe manufacturing plant of B. G. and E. Wallace has been sold to parties who will form a corporation under the laws of the state of Massachusetts. This plant is one of the largest industries in the state and has been the leading one in Rochester for a half century. The factory was established in 1851 and the shoe manufacturing began in 1862. The names of the buyers or what sort of business will be carried on is not made public. The new owners take possession March 1.

HIGH SCHOOL SCHOLARS HAVE RIFLE PRACTICE

Following a suggestion of Chairman C. B. Barton of the school committee, a rifle range has been established in the basement of the Berlin high school and all boys who wish to become proficient in marksmanship will be given instruction.

The boys will be divided into squads and each squad will be assigned a period for practice. A competent instructor will be present at all times when practice firing is going on, and every precaution will be taken to safeguard the boys.

Mr. Barton is an enthusiast along these lines and has communicated his enthusiasm to the boys in his charge.

MEDALS FOR THE VOLUNTEERS OF '61

The final distribution of medals to veterans of the Civil war, who responded to the call in arms by President Abraham Lincoln, has been completed by Captain Daniel R. Newhall, who had charge of the work. Concord men who received the latest medals include William Silver, John C. French, now of New York, and Captain Newhall. The last legislative appropriation of $200 and 125 medals were struck off. One hundred of these have been distributed.

ELIOT

The Ladies' Circle of the Advent church was entertained this Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Robert T. Staples. Mr. and Mrs. William Hobbs left yesterday for their annual trip south. The installation of officers of John F. Hill grange occurred on Wednesday evening followed by a supper which was in charge of Mrs. Frank Robinson, Mrs. Clarence Plaisant and Mrs. Chester Spilney.

Mrs. Walter Hodgdon and two children have returned from a visit with her sister in New York.

G. S. Hunsburg of Somersworth was in town on Wednesday.

Among those from here who attended the funeral of Rev. Alexander Dixon in Newburyport, were F. A. Staples, Mrs. H. L. Staples, Mrs. Mary Hunscomb, Miss Martha Dixon, Mrs. Wilkes, William, Paul and daughter Mildred.

Messrs Andrews and Burd of Portsmouth were visitors here on Sunday.

Mrs. James Brooks who has been ill with an attack of the grippe is improving.

Regular Wednesday evening prayer meeting was held in the M. E. vestry last evening.

The ministers are rehearsing frequently and everything points to a big success, if old Walter will smile on the occasion instead of giving it the cold shoulder.

Miss Marjorie Fernald of Concord passed several days last week with her mother, Mrs. W. L. Fernald.

Mrs. A. Riley visited Mrs. Harry L. Staples for a few days last week.

Several of the local navy yard employees are laid off for a few days owing to lack of funds.

Mrs. Brandt Wilson of Newport, R. I., wife of Carpenter Wilson, U. S. N., is visiting her sister, Miss Emma Hammond. Mr. Wilson was ordered south recently.

NEW CASTLE

In Memoriam—Howard M. Curtis.

Death is impartial. More, season, business or age are each and all ineffective barriers. Thus most all seasons for thy own, O Death, is as veritable as when the poetess penned the strong line. When one so unassuming so quiet, so unobtrusive, yet so kind, has enveloped in the eternal silence and when he crossed the Great Divide there is left in the lives of all who knew him a memory which will be cherished faithfully. Of great ability, energy and business faculty, going into the grocery business, when a very young man, was postmaster for over thirty years; held the position of town clerk and treasurer for a long period of years. When a young man he became affiliated with the Christian church and later became a constant attendant at the Congregational church, going many times when physically unfit for the exertion. Mr. Curtis was one of the old school's dyed-in-the-wool Republicans; his word was as good as his bond, and he was ever loyal to the principles for which the party stood. His judgment was quick, clear and astonishingly accurate, and when it was called into action his mental pulse was so complete that neither passion nor irritation could lead it astray. While I remember all this with admiration, I recall with more tender sentiment Mr. Curtis' devotion to his friends and he will be deeply missed by many of the summer population who sojourn here through the recreation season. I mourn the death of a friend of whom it can be truthfully said that in his character were combined mental traits of a high order and loving qualities of heart that gripped him to his friends with hoops of steel. His helpful presence will be missed from the church, his joy in its services never grew less nor faded with weakening health and strength. As it is written, "One shall be taken and the other left." The married life of the couple was indeed the outstretched hand of sympathy and condolence is extended to the bereaved wife, who is confined to her room by illness, to the children and all those who are left to mourn the severing of the evanescent tie. Pussing out of the shadow into eternal day, why do we call this dying, this sweet going away.

Miss Mercedes Witte, after a visit with relatives, has returned to her duties in Portland.

Miss Eva Manson is restricted to her home by a severe cold.

Mr. Maurice Littlefield is having an enforced vacation from the navy yard, occasioned by blood poisoning in his right hand.

Miss Nellie Leary is able to be out after her recent illness.

Mr. Nathan White is passing the frigid term with Mr. Henry Cuskey and family at Fort Point.

POMONA GRANGE INSTALLATION

The first meeting of the year of the East Rockingham Pomona grange was held Wednesday with the Wingold grange of East Kingston, when the officers of each organization were installed by Deputy Luke H. Hickert of Lachin. At the closed session held in the morning the fifth degree was conferred in full.

The program for the afternoon consisted of vocal solos by Mrs. Charlotte N. Gahlan of Newmarket; paper, Mrs. Edith M. Philbrick of Newmarket; monologue, "Paying a Debt from the Milliner's," Mrs. Lillian Whitman of Exeter, and a vocal solo by Mrs. Beah of East Kingston.

The officers of the Wingold grange installed were:

Master, Benjamin H. Pray, of Greenland; overseer, Fred B. Philbrick of Newmarket; lecturer, Mrs. Flora B. Hillard of Kingston; steward, Henry M. Prescott of Kensington; assistant steward, Augusta W. Neal of Newfields; chaplain, Rev. L. D. Briggs of Epping; treasurer, Frank B. Brown of Hampton; secretary, Miss Annie M. Perkins of Seabrook; gatekeeper, William E. Peters of Exeter; ceres, Mrs. Ethel M. Pray of Greenland; pomona, Mrs. Edith M. Philbrick of Newmarket; flora, Miss Amy Evans of Seabrook; lady assistant steward, Mrs. Lucy A. Peters of Exeter; pianist, Mrs. Mary L. White of Kingston.

GERMAN PRISONER OF WAR STOWAWAY ON VIRGINIAN

Novel Program When Boat From France Reaches Boston

A German prisoner of war is a stowaway on the American steamship Virginian, expected to arrive in Boston today from St. Nazaire, France, and Captain Simmons has requested his agents by wireless to communicate the fact to the immigration authorities. When the ship enters quarantine she will be boarded by an officer who will remove the German to the immigration station for examination by a board of special inquiry.

The case presents novel features in that the man has escaped from France and under ordinary conditions he could be deported on the Virginian. This disposition, however, is deemed unlikely in that the German might be summarily dealt with by the French authorities in the event of his being returned to St. Nazaire. Authorities at Washington no doubt will be asked for a ruling.

Be careful. This is dangerous weather.

SALONICA READY FOR ASSAULT

Bridges Blown Up and British Troops Landed.

(Special to The Herald)

Paris, Jan. 12.—The railroad bridge over the Struma river at Bessar, Greece has been blown up by French engineers. It was done as a precautionary measure, says a dispatch from Salonica. British troops taken from the Gallipoli have been landed at Salonica and now form part of the great Anglo-French force that is prepared to defend the city.

SUPERIOR COURT.

Exeter, Jan. 12.—An interesting Seabrook case went on trial this morning before Judge Kivel. It being the action of William N. Davis vs. Arthur W. Evans, both residents of that town, the allegation being that there was a false arrest and imprisonment, and the plaintiff asks an ad damnum of $4,000. The trouble evidently rose over a disputed boundary line.

The foreman of the jury is Abraham S. Fuller of Atkinson and the panel consists of T. Russell, Sheehy of Newfields; Emerson C. Locke of Portsmouth, Frank Sewall of Newmarket, John S. Seamon of Stratham, Peter Wood of Portsmouth, Jay L. Thompson of Epping, Howard F. Chase of Exeter, True E. Smith of Newmarket, Walter S. Dusen of Salem, Samuel G. Page of Newton and William E. Stearns of Exeter.

For the plaintiff the opening was made by John Seamon of Exeter, who with Percy Gardner, also of Exeter, are the counsel for the plaintiff, and the defendant is represented by the firm of Sleeper, Burns and Prizzell, the case being conducted by Attorney Sleeper.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Fannie M. McCallin

Mrs. Fannie M. McCallin, wife of William C. McCallin, died shortly before midnight on Wednesday at their home, 220 South street, aged 54 years. She was active in the affairs of several of the women's lodges in this city, having been a member of Strawberry Bank Lodge, I. O. O. F., Union Rebekah Lodge, I. O. O. F., and Star Lodge of Odd Ladies.

Mrs. McCallin is survived by her husband, an uncle, John A. Peterson, with whom she lived from childhood, and one daughter, Mrs. Charles A. Dame of this city.

Mrs. Mary A. Young
The sudden death of Mrs. Mary A. Young, widow of David H. Young, will be sad and shocking news to her great many friends in Manchester and at York Beach. Almost up to the day of her death she had been attending the meetings of various societies to which she belonged, and up to five minutes of her death at a late hour last night she was in apparently perfect health.

Mrs. Young, at her late home, 771 Union street, Manchester, was seized with a shock of apoplexy at 11:15 o'clock p. m. Tuesday night. She had been reading up to within a few moments of her demise. A young woman who lived in the house heard unusual sounds from Mrs. Young's room, and, repairing thither, the aged lady died in her arms.

Mrs. Young was born in Ireland seventy-eight years ago, and had been a resident of Manchester over sixty years. She had but one relative living in this vicinity, Benjamin J. Muek of the West Side. Other relatives reside in Ireland and Australia. She was a member of St. James M. E. church, the Old Residents' association, a charter member of Amoskeag grange, life member of the District Nursing association and of the New Hampshire Settlement association, and director on the board of Manchester Children's Home, representing St. James church. She took a very great interest in all these society connections.

Mrs. Young was the widow of David H. Young, who, twenty-five years ago, was one of the best known property holders of Manchester.

She was an enthusiastic and ardent lover of York Beach and its surroundings and spent many summers there. Her cottage—a handsome, roomy structure on Union bluff, behind the Hastings-Lyman—known as "Spray View," was the stopping place of hundreds of Manchester people in the last dozen years. It will be at the beach that Mrs. Young will be missed perhaps as much as from any other locality. She was the life of many a social gathering, witty and extremely active for one of her years.

MANCHESTER WOMAN BADLY BURNED

Manchester, Jan. 12.—Mrs. Mary Ann Palmer, widow of Levi Palmer of Tisbury Hill, Haverhill, is in a critical condition at a local hospital, owing to burns due to the overturning of a lamp at her home yesterday while preparing for the funeral of her husband. Mrs. Palmer was terribly burned about the head and chest and was brought here today.

The cold wave which has prevailed in the northwest is bound east, and zero weather may be looked for tomorrow or Saturday.

The following officers of Piscataqua Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, were installed on Wednesday evening: Worthy matron, Mrs. Nellie Jackson; worthy patron, Walter Latta; associate matron, Mrs. Grace Titus; conductress, Mrs. Helene Gethell; associate conductress, Mrs. Evelyn Woods; secretary, Mrs. Bertha Christie; treasurer, Mrs. Sadie Cross; chaplain, Mrs. Ruby J. Lefebvre; marshal, Mrs. Isabella Kay; clerk, organist, Mrs. Fannie Remick; Ada, Miss Anna Remick; Ruth, Mrs. Georgia Seaward; Esther, Mrs. Virginia Williams; Martha, Mrs. Alta Durgin; Elsie, Mrs. May Watts; warder, Mrs. Nellie Billings. Dr. Henry J. Durgin was the installing officer, with Charles R. Waggatt as grand marshal. Dr. Durgin, in behalf of the members of the order, presented Mrs. Waggatt, the retiring Worthy Matron, a handsome silver bread tray as an appreciation of her services. Ice cream and cake were served at the close of the work.

Mrs. P. A. Noel of Newson avenue entertained Miss Law of Portsmouth on Wednesday.

The funeral services of the late William S. Pinkham were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Fred Stacy, Fort Hill. Rev. E. W. Cummings officiated, assisted by Rev. J. J. Merry. Selecting were rendered by a male quartet from Portsmouth. Interment was in Orchard Grove cemetery.

Among those from out of town who attended the funeral of the late William S. Pinkham today were: John Pinkham of Lynn; Eldridge Pinkham of Boston; Charles E. Eugene and Webster Pinkham of Malden, Mass.; Rev. and Mrs. Isiah Pinkham of West Lebanon, Me.; and George Doe of South Berwick.

John H. Nicholson, who is on a furlough from his duties at the navy yard, has gone to his home in Lynn, Mass.

Mrs. Leon E. Robbins of Damo street is able to be out doors again after her recent illness.

Mrs. Ralph Thompson of Plerson street passed Wednesday with relatives in York.

The Riverside Reading Club will meet on Friday afternoon with Mrs. Charles Latta of Love lane.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Ralph W. Stacy were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from Parker's church, Portsmouth. Rev. William M. Porgrave officiated.

Percy Durgin is still restricted to his home on Newson avenue by illness.

All invited guests to the installation of Kittery Grange, to be held on Friday evening, are requested to be at Grange hall promptly at 8 o'clock.

Harvey Chandler is enjoying a fifteen days' vacation from his duties as postmaster at the navy yard, which he is passing with relatives in Lynn, Mass., and later in New York.

Miss Cora Sterling of Post Road passed Tuesday afternoon and night with her aunt, Mrs. Martha Young, of Portsmouth.

At the meeting of the committee in charge held Wednesday evening at the home of Calvin Dunbar, it was decided to hold the annual reunion of the Kittery High School Alumni on Monday evening, Feb. 21. Various committees on arrangements were appointed and other business transacted.

A musical soiree will be given on the evening of Wednesday, Jan. 19, under the auspices of the Epworth League.

William J. Cater was in Boston on Thursday on business.

ALLIES TO BLAME FOR MONTENEGRIN DEFEAT

Failed to Give Any Real Aid Until Too Late--Fall Of Mount Lovcen Alters Situation in Adriatic Sphere of Operations.

London, Jan. 12.—Again the Allies are "too late" and as a result another gory scalp of a small people will hang proudly at the belt of the Teutonic war machine. Belgium, Serbia, and now Montenegro, Mount Lovcen captured by the Austrians, has been called the Gibraltar of the Adriatic. It is the most important thing yet crushed by the Teutonic war roller which is dawning out the Montenegrin nation. The Austrian advance, considering the distance to be covered, was much slower than that made in the Teutonic conquest of Serbia, but there were the formidable obstacles which the mountainous character of the country presents. Nevertheless the question will be raised as to why the Entente Allies did not long ago send aid to the Montenegrins in particular why Italy, which is more acutely affected by this Austrian invasion had not taken preventive measures. The Austrians are less than ten miles from the capital of Montenegro, calculating the distance by the existing roads, and a successful blow at the heart of the country may have the effect of isolating the troops defending the northeastern frontier. Cetinje, the capital of Montenegro, which is within striking distance of the conquerors of Lovcen, is the smallest of the war capitals. It is the smallest capital city in the world. In order to get into this city, an army would have to ascend a narrow mountain road beyond the clouds, and after it got there would find nothing to hold on to but stones, fresh air and bleak fields. The city consists of a main street and a cross street. On the cross street is the King's palace. This is a fair-sized, whitewashed Italian villa, with an audience room about fifteen feet square and a red tiled roof. The main street is enclosed by two lines of white-washed stone houses of one and two stories, many of which have stores on the ground floor. There is a factory for arms and ammunition in the village, and a high school for girls which was founded more than twenty years ago by the Empress of Russia. Even the black, forged about the end of the fourteenth century to abandon public, the former capital to the north of Lake Scutari, founded Cetinje. The Turks have taken the town several times, the Montenegrins retreating to the surrounding heights. Cetinje is difficult to besiege; there is little to burn, and the only reason for undertaking its capture would be the moral effect of occupying the capital—the heart of the country.

Austrians Shell Villages

London, Jan. 12.—This official communication from Italian General Headquarters, reads as follows: "On Sunday evening the enemy fired incendiary shells on our positions from Mont Ghetto, northwest of Rovereto. During the night our advanced posts reported a big fire in Rovereto."

"In the Upper Cordevole and Lagazzini valleys our detachments advancing with great daring up to the hostile trenches wrecked them with grenades. On the upper and middle Isonzo the enemy batteries tried to hit our lines with the aid of aeroplanes. They were effectively countered by our artillery. Our aircraft guns compelled the aeroplanes to remain at a great height."

"On the plain on the lower Isonzo the enemy artillery resumed long range firing against inhabited places, there being some victims. At Romazzino one of our small camp hospitals was struck, four soldiers being killed and eight wounded."

Great demonstrations are being organized to welcome back to Rome King Victor Emmanuel, who is coming from the front for the first time since Italy entered the war.

The War Office at Vienna yesterday reported: "Italian theatre: The situation is unchanged. In southern Tyrol eleven Italian aviators appeared above the Adige valley and dropped bombs at several points. The attack was unsuccessful."

Kaiser Calls Buelow

Paris, Jan. 12.—A Home despatch to the Journal says it has been learned from the Duke of Adragna, brother of the wife of Prince von Buelow, former German ambassador, that on account of Emperor William's illness the Prince has been summoned suddenly to Berlin from Switzerland, where he has been staying for several months.

Evacuating Eastern Bases

London, Jan. 12.—The Austro-Germans appear to have abandoned hope of the recapture of the territory lost in the recent fighting, according to the London Morning Post's correspondent, and as a result of Russian pressure a general evacuation of the forward bases by both Germans and Austrians is proceeding vigorously.

"For months past," adds the correspondent, "they have been accumulating large stores for a spring advance forward base of the Austrian armies. Kovel of the German armies. At both places enormous storehouses of beams and corrugated iron have been built, and when the Russian advance began they were filled from floor to roof with military stores."

"The Kovel magazines are now being hastily evacuated to Cholm, and the Vladimir-Volynskiy magazines to Sokul. These removals have been seriously hampered by the simultaneous removal of tens of thousands of wounded in the recent fighting."

"The Bourne Gazette's Drinsk correspondent reports that the Germans have also begun the evacuation of Pongwesch, in the Baltic provinces, from which everything valuable is being loaded into motor lorries and hurriedly conveyed to Shavil, Libau and the interior of Germany. The Zeppelin sheds near the town have also been dismantled."

Reports Repulse of Russians

The official communication issued yesterday at Vienna says: "Yesterday, apart from the usual artillery fighting, calmness prevailed on the Vessarabian front and in East Galicia. Since morning, after violent artillery fire, the enemy has again directed unsuccessful attacks against the region of Toporowitz and Kharanovsk."

Defeated Germany's Best

Paris, Jan. 12.—The fact that regiments of the Imperial Guard were among the 60,000 men that attacked the French lines in Champagne on Sunday indicates how carefully the Germans selected their troops for this great assault. A considerable number of prisoners taken by the French included:

It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin will give you a hundred dollars' worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back. It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach regulator in the world.

longed to the famous Guards.

The attack followed one of the heaviest bombardments the Germans yet have inflicted upon the French positions. The bombardment lasted twenty-four hours. The promptness of the French reply with concentrated fire from their three-inch guns stopped the first waves of the German trenches. Only at the fourth attempt did the Germans, after heavy losses, get up to the French trenches.

The surprising promptness of the French counter-attack caught the Germans before they could organize the positions they had won. Many were obliged to surrender, and only a few got back to their own lines.

Regular Enemy Reconnaissance. The following official communication was issued by the French War Office last night:

"Between the Avre and the Oise, in the night of Jan. 10-11 a strong enemy reconnoitering party which attempted to approach our lines near Ribécourt was decimated by our fire. About ten dead and some wounded were left on the ground."

"In the course of the day our batteries caused important damage to the enemy works in the section of La Pompe, southeast of Rheims."

"In Champagne, in an artillery duel, we effectively bombarded the German trenches between Mont Tatu and Butte du Mesnil. To the south of St. Souplet, our trench guns blew up two enemy block houses."

"In the Argonne our heavy artillery partly destroyed a German fortified work near Vauquois."

The Belgian official communication reads:

"The artillery action has diminished, slightly on the Belgian front. Our batteries dispersed at various points enemy workers and succeeded in bombarding a convoy of munitions for Fiermy's troops to the south of the Fiermy's Hope."

The British official communication issued last night said:

"Last night was quiet. Today there has been considerable artillery activity on both sides about Hulluch and Ypres. Our artillery and trench mortar and grenade practice has been particularly effective near Armentieres and St. Eloi."

Breaking Up Spy System

London, Jan. 12.—Numerous extracts from documents seized at Salonica when the consuls of the Teutonic Allies were arrested there recently were made public. Among the papers, according to the published statements, were copies of daily reports telegraphed to Vienna by the Austrian consul general giving the numbers and description of Allies that were landing at Salonica; reports of spies on the movements of Allies' forces into the interior, and records of payments of these spies and to local newspapers.

The system of espionage, the documents stated, also were extended to Greece, and among the published papers there were what purport to be copies of reports made by agents at Greek military centers and by fort functionaries. "A good friend of Germany, and can be trusted," is a sentence printed as being taken from one of the reports made regarding a certain prefect, while a certain officer is classed as "doubtful."

One secret agent is declared to have written on Dec. 30 that Greek troops which were supposed to be leaving the city marched out on one side and came back on the other. Herr Holzhner, a secretary of the German Legation, is reported as declaring that he was endeavoring to establish communication with spies with Monastir.

What an Englishman Thought. The Berlin Overseas News Agency gave out the following:

"Vienna reports that the British minister at Athens has denied the authenticity of correspondence recently published by the Austro-Hungarian

Government, stating that no secretary of the legation had written anything like: 'According to my opinion it would be best to change the king from the throne and appoint Venizelos president of the Greek republic.'

The Austro-Hungarian Government states that since the authenticity is denied it is no more interested in concealing names. The quoted words are contained in a letter from W. J. Garrett of the British legation at Athens, to his mother, Mrs. Garrett, Quernmore Park, Lancaster."

Allied Citizens Held by Turks

The American ambassador at Constantinople, Henry Morgenthau, has advised the American legation at Athens of the arrest of eight Frenchmen at Constantinople as reprisal for the arrival by the Entente Allies of the consuls of the Teutonic allies at Salonica. The German minister at Athens has informed the American Minister Droppers that Germany does not agree to the American consulate at Salonica, acting for German interests there, on the ground that Salonica is Greek territory and the Greeks must protect foreign and foreign interests. John R. Keighly, American consul at Salonica, has been instructed accordingly.

WOUNDED SOLDIERS HAPPY IN EGYPT

Alexandria, Jan. 12.—The soldier of the Mediterranean expeditionary force is a favored individual. During the day the sun smiles serenely upon him and life thrives with color. At night the moon bathes with a cold light the mysterious gray shapes of a fanciful landscape, and the stars scintillate with a brilliance unknown to the man at home. He is surrounded by grim or gray, the charm of the tropical night lingers into his being.

This is especially the case in Egypt where many of our soldiers find a haven of rest and quiet to recover from their wounds. Here and there a Turkish bullet resulted in my arrival in a native hospital near Alexandria. I will remember the first sensation of my advent.

On a strip of desert, covering the stiff tops and overlooking the sea, the hospital encampment. Long gaward natives moved silently to and fro, their dusky faces making delightful blotches of color, in the starling areas of white and yellow.

I was taken to a place which was called a reception room, but which looked more like a South Sea Islanders' abode. The building consisted of an awning of rushes matted together and propped up by long wooden poles. It was fenced off by a narrow strip of the same matting. Dusk settled down as the long intricate details concerning the new arrivals were entered on a large sheet of cardboard by a native orderly. It was quite dark when I was shown which maniquee I had to go to.

The other patients had all gone out and as I pulled aside the curtain to look for a vacant bed, a queer sort of feeling overcame me. The tent was lined inside by dark blue cloth against which shined up vaguely rows of ghostly beds and pyramids of Egyptian vases on a pedestal. There was an extraordinary stillness in the air; and I could not help feeling that the entrance of the far corner would be pulled aside to reveal a solemn figure of Egyptian deity. The Yellow God with the Green Eye reared vividly to my memory.

The feeling vanished as I laid down on my bed and bunched up scanty belongings below the pillow. Then I set out on a tour of inspection. The encampment looked down on a long strip of beach, lit up by an occasional electric light. The sound of laughter and the hum of many voices wafted across the still night air.

A preclipsious scrambling path took which I made out to be a bath house. A couple of native women sat on an upturned boat, laughing merrily. The tumult of voices was softened by the gentle sound of the surf. All sorts of people thronged along the shore.

Pretty French girls in summer frocks laughed and chatted gaily. A group of Mohammedan ladies in black draperies and their faces hidden behind a dark mask, were waiting ankle deep in the sea. Pools of laughter echoed from them as one wave higher than the others surged over their ankles and damped their garments.

WHAT AUNT JANE SAYS

"If you have small smelt," continued Aunt Jane, "one of the nicest and most simple ways of cooking them is to remove the heads and tails, and place them in a dish of cold water. When ready for the meal, put the fish into a kettle of boiling, salted water for a few minutes. It is usual to eat the fish bones and all when they are small."

"If you wish, you may serve them with mayonnaise sauce, or with one made by mixing a little melted butter and mustard."

NEW BATTLESHIP ON TUNING UP SPIN.

New York, Jan. 12.—The new super-dreadnought Oklahoma, which has been at the New York navy yard for several days making preparations for her builders' trial, over a deep sea course off the Maine coast, left today for a tuning-up test of her engines in preparation for the official trial. The Oklahoma will remain at sea for two days preparing for the speed test.

ALBERT NOONE MOST LIKELY CANDIDATE

MANCHESTER MIRROR SAYS THAT OTHER POSSIBLE CANDIDATES NOT MENTIONED BY DEMOCRATS.

An editorial in Wednesday evening's Manchester Mirror says the opposition to the nomination of Albert R. Noone of Peterborough by the democrats has died an early death. Mr. Noone, who was the democratic candidate for election in the campaign against Gov. Spaulding, announced his candidacy for the nomination several months ago. A week or so later the Laccena Democrat attempted to bring Judge Calvin Page's name into the fight but in an interview Judge Page stated that he was not even thinking of running for the nomination and that some way up state was having a pipe dream. At the time Judge Page said that Mr. Jameson would probably be the party choice for the office, The Mirror's editorial opinion follows:

"Hi" Noone and the Democratic gubernatorial Nomination.

All efforts to sidetrack "Hi" Noone, as the Democratic candidate for governor in the approaching campaign, met with defeat at the conference of the Democratic state committee held in Concord Monday night. The only outspoken opponent to Mr. Noone's candidacy came from ex-Congressman Reed, who brought forward the name of Mr. Jameson, formerly chairman of the Democratic state committee, but his efforts in this direction were completely nullified when Mr. Jameson announced that the mention of his name was entirely unauthorized and the general feeling among Democrats is reported to be that he will not consent to run against Mr. Noone and that the latter will have the field to himself.

The names of John C. Hutchins, Gordon Woodbury and Calvin Page, which have been referred to occasionally in connection with the nomination, were not mentioned at the Democratic convention, and to an outsider it looks as though "Uncle Hi" had got them all in a panic. He is in the saddle, is prancing back and forth on the stretch, and up to date there is not an entry to contest the honor with him.

NEW PRESIDENT OF A BANK IN NASHUA

Nashua, N. H., Jan. 12.—Lester P. Thurber was today elected president of the Second National Bank succeeding Fred W. Estabrook, who, after 21 years' service, declined a reelection. He will continue as a director. Mr. Thurber is active in various manufacturing concerns in Nashua and is president of the City Guaranty Savings bank.

James E. Tolles, Cyrille Brodeur, and John M. Blake were added to the list of directors. Other officers elected were Seth D. Chandler, vice president; John M. Blake, cashier and G. Edwin Harris, assistant cashier.

OF COURSE

Of course, if you do your own washing you imagine that we can't do the work so good—or that our methods are harder on the fabrics. This is not so. Our work is equal, if not better than the domestic work, and, actually, our equipment is gentler on the articles than the scrub board method. All of our work is returned sterilized clean—and costs but a trifle.

PROGRESSIVES TENDER OLIVE BRANCH TO C. O. P.

EVEN WILLING TO FOREGO ROOSEVELT AS 1916 CANDIDATE TO BRING ABOUT PEACE.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—The Bull Moose stood just outside the fence of the C. O. P. pasture today with olive branches on his antlers. A little coaxing, said Progressive party leaders today, will bring him inside the pasture.

Frank statements today by George W. Perkins, who presided at the Progressive national committee meeting yesterday, which voted to hold a national convention in Chicago June 7, the same day the Republican national convention meets here, bore out the impression that peace between the Progressives and Republicans now rests with the latter.

"We are all hoping," Perkins said, "that both parties will agree on somebody, and that somebody need not necessarily be Col. Roosevelt."

Perkins and other leaders, who remained in Chicago today, were hopeful but not certain, that it would be Roosevelt. Just how many second choices the party has is yet to be shown. Justice Hughes, apparently, has considerable strength among the Progressives, both in the west and in the east. Some committeemen who attended the meeting were frankly for him as the second choice. But nine out of 10 believe Roosevelt will be the Republican nominee.

McNeill McCormick of Chicago, it was intimated today, will be one of the principal intermediaries between the Moose and Republicans in their negotiations for a compromise.

WITH THE SPORTS

New York, Jan. 12.—Tennis calls for the best there is in a person; for the utmost in mental effort and the utmost in physical.

The greatest injustice that ever has been done to tennis is to refer to it as a "mollycoddles" game. It is a strenuous game—a game that wreathings cannot play. It calls for more exertion and more skill than do baseball or even football. No one can play tennis who isn't in extremely good physical condition, because the strain of the game will wear down quickly all those who are not physically fit.

If you play tennis yourself you know the truth of this statement. If you don't play it, it might be worth your while to watch the playing of a few sets sometime to watch the whirlwind action of the players.

Tennis a Real Game

Tennis requires its devotees to be "on their toes" every second of the game. When you hit the ball and send it sailing over the net, after a hard chase on your part to meet it before it bounds out of your reach. Do you then get a chance to rest? No, none at all, because a second after you hit that ball your opponent has driven it back at you. Sometimes it is headed straight at you, but often it is as far away from you as your foot can land it. That's the game—to place the ball where the other fellow can't hit it.

The net game really is a game for the young. It asks so much in speed and endurance that the older folks cannot play it. A portly person, as a tennis player, is a fizzle. He cannot cover the ground rapidly; and, as a result, he is just a joke as an opponent.

Tennis is a game that has come to the fore during the past five years with a wonderful rush despite prejudice. Years ago it was a rich man's game. There were few public tennis courts, and the only courts were those conducted in connection with the exclusive country clubs, but times have changed.

Millions Play Tennis

There are millions of tennis players in the United States today where there were only thousands a few years ago. The municipal authorities in the various cities found that tennis was a real game—and a beneficial one. So they installed courts in their public parks. Persons in many cities who owned vacant lots recognized the gradually increasing popularity of tennis.

and have built courts on those lots.

For those who are able to play the game there is no athletic contest that furnishes more mental or physical exercise. The constant chasing after the ball from one side to the other, brings the blood into healthy circulation and it hardens practically every muscle in the body. Those who play tennis consistently, rarely know a sick day, merely because tennis is the best conditioner known.

And tennis develops the brain as much as it develops the body. A slow thinker never becomes a good tennis player, but the wits of a slow thinker always are sharpened a bit by playing the game. One's brain must move with the speed of lightning to keep up with the ever shifting conditions in the game.

"Alertness is the keynote of tennis," wrote one expert. And he is right. To play a good game of tennis one must be alert in body and brain. One must follow every movement of that ball, and, at times, anticipate it. One's brain must move quickly and one's body must follow instantly the dictates of the brain. Tennis is a game in which fractions of seconds oftentimes mean defeat or victory.

If you would be healthy and sharp-witted, try tennis.

The day is cold, old winter's here. Oh, see, the snowflakes fall. The diamond's buried beneath the ice, And yet the boys play ball. They stam 'em out from around the stove. They grab 'em on a fluke, Its the game they play in winter As in the summer time.

One of the most recent nominees for the office of "Luckiest Man in Baseball" is Lefty Baumgartner, of the Phillies who worked in 16 games in 1915, failed to win the verdict in any of them, and yet grabbed down a nice slice of world series spoils as big as they awarded to Grover Alexander.

Glen Warner, the coach of the University of Pittsburgh footballers, ranks as one of the greatest strategists in sporting history. Warner has a nimble brain and one that adjusts itself to meet every complex situation.

Some years ago when he was coaching the Cornell team one of the best men on the team were inclined to loaf. Warner berated them time and again, but the loafing continued. The boys had grown a bit chummy over the fact that one of the Ithaca papers was boosting them day after day. They figured they were stars and didn't need to work.

Well, all of a sudden, the papers that had been boosting them, began to print articles criticizing them. It charged them with loafing—with having swelled heads. And right away those fellows took a tumble to themselves; they began to throw their hearts and souls into the work.

Yes Oscar, you've guessed it, Warner went to the editor, explained the situation to him, and then got permission to write the articles which "panned" the players.

Charles Walcott Murphy who made a million dollars in baseball through his part ownership of the Chicago Cubs, was "fired" into making a fortune.

"I started life as a drug clerk," said Murphy. "I had hopes some day of becoming owner of a drugstore. That was my life's ambition at that time. I was working for a German druggist at the time one of the opening ball games were staged in Cincinnati. I wanted to see that game but I knew it wouldn't do any good to try and get away. My boss thought baseball was foolishness. 'So I framed up a story. I told him that I was going to one of the Cincinnati suburbs where I hoped to sell a druggist a fine bill of goods. The German was pleased and he let me go away for the afternoon. I went to the ball game and when I got back to the store in the evening I explained to the boss that I wasn't able to sell the country druggist any goods. 'Id jss fiddle vunder,' sneered my boss. 'None of my friends was here and told me he saw you yelling at der ball game. You jss fired.'"

There was nothing else for me to do but get out. I hunted around for a job and finally landed with Charles P. Taft's newspaper. While I was working on that sheet a chance came to buy the Cubs. I enlisted the financial aid of Mr. Taft and we became owners of the club."

HITHERTO MYSTERIOUS PLANT RECEIVING MESSAGES DIRECT FROM BERLIN.

Portland, Me., Jan. 12.—That the big wireless station at Nason's Corner in the Deering section is owned by a German company with headquarters at Hanover, Ger., and that it can receive messages direct from Germany, became known today. E. B. Mayer, an official of the company here, said today that the same company is conducting the Tuckerton, N. J. station.

Mystery has surrounded the erection of this wireless station, which was completed about two weeks ago. Men connected with it, refusing to talk at first, finally admitted it was connected with the Tuckerton station. United States officials simply said that "the station is under supervision." Lieut. F. S. Hatch of the United States navy is here to act as official supervisor.

The station will be in operation in about two weeks receiving messages direct from Germany. It is one of the biggest wireless stations in this country and the first, it is said, to demonstrate in practical use that lower towers are as efficient as high aerials in receiving wireless messages. Many experimental messages already have been received.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK CROSS, FEVERISH

When constipated or bilious give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without gripping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "Fruit Laxative"; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies; children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

WILSON OPPOSED TO COMPULSORY MILITARY SERVICE.

Washington, Jan. 12.—President Wilson is opposed to compulsory service. Chairman Hay told the House committee on military affairs.

Asst. Sec. of War Breckinridge told the committee the plan for the organization of the continental army would be more satisfactory to the war department if enlistment were made compulsory instead of voluntary but admitted that the President dissents.

PRESENTED WITH CANE

Rep. James E. French of Moultonborough Remembered by Members of First Co., C. A. C.

On Thursday the members of the First Company, Coast Artillery Corps sent to Representative James E. French of Moultonborough a handsome cane, as a mark of appreciation of Mr. French's fairness and courtesy towards the local delegation in the legislature of 1915 in their efforts to secure the appropriation for the erection of the drill shed in connection with the armory in this city. The cane is made of oak wood from the captured Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes, which was at the Portsmouth navy yard for some time, prior to being converted into a station ship. The handle of the cane is of brass tubing taken from the old battleship Maine after the craft was raised in Havana harbor, forming a very interesting relic of the Spanish-American war.

FAREWELL PARTY.

Friends of Mrs. Mary Chase Joyce Tender Her Reception in Pythian Hall.

Pythian hall was the scene of a jolly party on Wednesday evening when 30 or more friends of Mrs. Mary (Chase) Joyce gathered to give her a farewell party, prior to her going to Annapolis to reside. After the interchange of greetings had taken place, dancing was indulged in until the clock struck the midnight hour. Channell's Celestial orchestra furnished the music and all present entered heartily into the spirit of the occasion. Those present will have pleasant recollections of the "farewell" to Mrs. Joyce for many days to come. A feature of the evening was the introduction of a number of the old time square dances which were greatly enjoyed.

ENJOYED WHIST.

Mrs. Harry E. Trafton Entertained Eureka Whist Club.

On Wednesday afternoon the members of the Eureka Whist club were pleasantly entertained by Mrs. Harry E. Trafton at her home on Cabot street. After two hours of spirited play prizes were awarded as follows: First, a china jelly set to Mrs. Ben Hard; second, a bon-bon dish to Mrs. John Greenway; consolation, a brooch to Mrs. George Howell.

During the game home made candies were served and at its conclusion the hostess served a welch rabbit and hot supper which was greatly enjoyed by those present.

The next meeting of the club will be with Mrs. William Drew of Kent street.

WONDERFUL SHOW AT THE COLONIAL

The Mezzell Troupe appearing at the Colonial Theatre today is, without question, the greatest athletic novelty ever seen upon the American stage. It is the most expensive act ever seen in this city. It is a positive sensation, and will be the talk of the town. You should not fail to see it.

HORSEMEN PLAN RACING SEASON

PORTSMOUTH DRIVING CLUB DISCUSS SEASON'S ACTIVITIES AND ELECT OFFICERS AT ANNUAL MEETING

The horsemen in Portsmouth and its vicinity are going to have some good racing this coming season if the plans discussed at the annual meeting of the Portsmouth Driving Club last evening materialize. The officers of the club were elected at the meeting and a delegate elected to represent the club at the meeting of the National Horsemen's Committee in New York, which is held in February.

The meeting was called in the Board of Trade Rooms with a large number of members present and the proposed plans for the coming season point to much enthusiastic action.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are as follows:

President, Charles A. Allen.

1st vice president, Horace M. Wiggin.

2d vice president, Dr. Edward S. Cowles.

Secretary, Dr. Samuel F. Griffin.

Treasurer, Norman H. Deane.
